Social Settings and Activities Hedbanz

This version of Hedbanz focuses on common social settings and situations for teens and young adults. The game's basic concept and essential rules are the same as "regular" Hedbanz with added optional components to encourage students to think out appropriate social behaviors in a variety of settings and while engaging in a variety of activities.

This version is very specific to locations in my hometown, Kansas City. I encourage you to customize cards to fit YOUR city/town for your students in order to keep it relevant!

Players

3-8 players

Duration of Game

30-45 minutes

Supplies

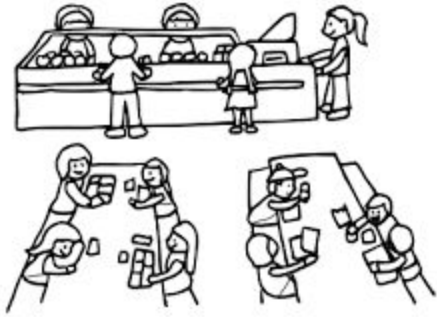

- Hedbanz game, including the bands and the instructions
- Printed and cut-apart copies of the game cards provided, on cardstock

Instructions

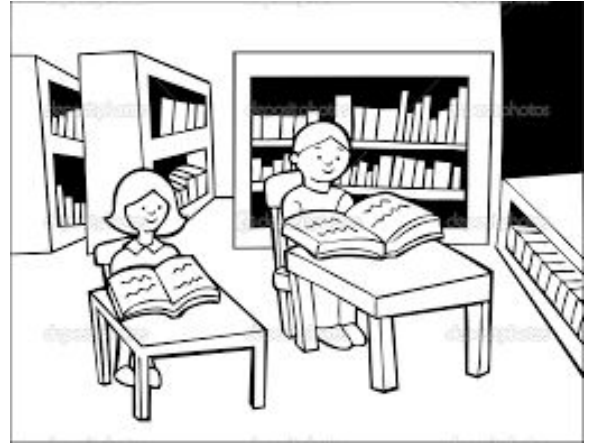

Follow the directions for game play included in the Hedbanz game set, but use the cards provided in place of the cards that come with the game.

Extension Activities (Optional Ideas for Extending the Activity)

- Students can create additional cards for the game and play again.
- Students can earn an extra "chip" by verbalizing one rule (written or unwritten) a person would need to follow while doing the activity or in the setting
- Students can sort the cards into stacks by criteria, such as putting all the cards that are restaurants together, all the cards that are "serious" events together, all the events that are expensive together, etc.
